Meter Parking: Vehicles parked at a meter must pay between the hours of 8 AM to 6 PM Monday-Saturday. A driver does not have to pay the meter on Sunday or federally recognized Holidays.

Before you park, check the signs. There may be limits on the amount of time vehicles may park or a permit may be required.

Parking at a space regulated by a meter or pay station requires you to pay the denomination specified by the meter or pay station between the hours and days specified. If a pay station does not work please alert the parking division by calling 311. Remember to place the display receipt on the dash of the vehicle, if you pay at a pay station. This is not required if you pay at an individual meter. The meters on the east and west sides of Fifth St. NW, and behind the Library are for up to 3 hours.

“Green Parking”: Qualified vehicles may park at any city parking meters without charge for the duration of the meter. Information is available at: <http://www.cabq.gov/parking/green-vehicle-parking-registration>.

Handicapped Parking: Parking areas designated for individuals with disabilities requires the appropriate disability placard be displayed. There is no charge for vehicles with disability permits. The time they park at a meter is not limited.
